

WHERE ARE THE DINOSAURS?

Where are the dinosaurs?

Extinct, Science says, their time long gone.

But that is an answer you do not believe my son.

You say shadows hide in the mountain.

A tail, a horn, eyes wide open.

When summits reach the sky,

In spaces where imaginations fly.

You'll start to see the dinosaur,

Deep inside nature, they soar.

Brachiosaurus Apo

Upon Mount Apo's lofty peak with golden strains,

The Brachiosaurus reigns.

In Mindanao's embrace, legends behold,

The massive plant-eater's story untold.

Stegosaurus Pulag

On Mount Pulag's rugged spine, a Stegosaurus is seen,
Where plates and spikes adorn the land serene.
Pulag's rolling fields where ancestral spirits roam,
Stegosaurus stands in ancient stone.

Tyrannosaurus rex Mayon

Mount Mayon's flaming breath, a queen in the horizon,

Roaring with fire in its dungeon.

Luzon's famed cone, grand and majestic,

Tyrannosaurus rex, a king as complex.

Triceratops Kitanglad

Triceratops walks Mount Kitanglad's verdant domain,

Three horns raised, a magnificent terrain.

Kitanglad's peaks are the Triceratops's throne,

Guardians in their ancient home.

Diplodocus Dulang-dulang

Mount Dulang-dulang stands tall,
A Diplodocus's neck in mountainous thrall.
Dulang-dulang's grace and a Diplo's sway,
Stretching to the heavens in the light of day.

Velociraptor Halcon

Mount Halcon's treacherous trails, where Velociraptors play,

Their cunning agility guides the traveler's way.

On Halcon's jagged face there they dance,

Swift-footed hunters in a dangerous trance.

Ankylosaurus Banahaw

In Mount Banahaw, there's a burly herbivore,
It guards the light with its tough armor.
Banahaw's mystic veil, an Ankylosaurus's might,
Protecting the sacred in its sight.

Parasaurolophus Makiling

Mount Makiling's mystifying presence where the Parasaurolophus roves,

A splash of fascination for ancient coves.

In Makiling's enchanted groves there the Parasaur sings,

A message of hope for all living beings.

Carnotaurus Matutum

Mount Matutum's silhouette, a captivating scene

A Carnotaurus's horns in the mountain's gleam.

A beacon of uniqueness amid nature's hand,

The carnotaur rules this forested land.

Pachycephalosaurius Kanlaon

Mount Kanlaon, fiery and fierce as the Pachycephalosaurius's crown,

Its volcanic might renowned.

Kanlaon's blazing heart, a Pachy's pride,

In its scorching pit, secrets reside.

In Philippine peaks, where stories softly chime, are dinosaurs frozen in time.
